Welcome to the second newsletter of 2016, the year which sees the 10th Anniversary of the foundation of our Company on 24th January 2006. We're very proud of our achievements which include the publication of two volumes of "The Register", A Celebration of Scottish Heraldry and the recent launch of our History and Heraldry series of facsimile books which now has over thirteen titles.

Volume II ..... Woohoo!

In our last edition we reported that we were quite excited because we were only a few entries away from being able to publish Volume II of The International Register of Arms. We went to press soon after and Volume II is now into its second printing so ... we're now accepting entries for Volume III.

Featured Armorial Bearings

Frank Richard Gregg

FEATURED ARMORIAL BEARINGS

Frank Richard Gregg, MStJ, Lord of The Manor of Camblesforth

Registered: The International Register of Arms, 10th Oct. 2016. Registration No. 0402 (Vol.3).

Arms: Argent, a cross embattled Sable the upper limb winged Gules.

Crest: A tower Or on the battlements thereof a griffin statant Sable supporting between its wings a Maltese cross Or.

Motto: Vigilance and Altruistic Unity

The Ulster-Scots surname "Gregg" means "Vigilant". The motto of "Vigilance and Altruistic Unity" and the design of the shield reflects the concept of vigilance and the armiger's Christian faith. The wings represent the service of the armiger in the US Air Force Auxiliary.

The Crest is a black griffin, symbolizing vigilance, strength and courage standing on a tower signifying vigilance. The griffin is displaying the Maltese Cross of the Order of St. John between its wings. As the armiger is a businessman, the helmet is a "tilting helmet", the "business" helmet of mounted warriors. The armiger's badge is the crest of the arms.

The armiger's ancestors include English Members of Parliament, Knights and Feudal Lords in England as well as American ancestors who served in the American Colonial Wars, American Revolution, War of 1812, the Union Army in the United States Civil War and World War II. He earned his wings and served as a Captain in the United States Air Force Auxiliary.

He is married to Robin Lynne Gregg and they have two children, Marcy Kate Gregg and Benjamin Richard Gregg. He has varied business interests and is a Vice-President for an international reinsurer.

He is an accomplished musician, a patron of the arts and various charities, a delegate of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia and was appointed to The Most Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, a Royal Order of Chivalry, by Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II in 2013. He has been Lord of the manor of Camblesforth since 2015.

VOLUME III

Well, here we are nearing the end of 2016 and looking forward to the new year already. Volume II has been published and we're making huge inroads into the editing of Volume III of The International Register of Arms.

Here are two, very small, images representing, to the right, the cover of Volume II and below an entry which features in Volume II of The Register, that of Douglas Evan Solberg-Bell, Registered: The International Register of Arms, 4th November 2013. Registration No. 0285 (Vol.2). Each entry is A4 page size on full colour quality paper and the book is bound in a hard back cover. Details of why we believe that an entry in The Register is beneficial can be found overleaf.

Douglas Evan Solberg-Bell

Registered: The International Register of Arms, 4th November 2013. Registration No. 0285 (Vol.2).

Arms: Azure, upon a fesswise Or between three pale argent bars and one also Or, two VMA's bent, proper.

Crest: Two owls (Coccyz coxus) proper.

Shield: It is a shield Azure fimbriated Or bearing the six cry "Tay What You Owe" upon a wreath Or and Azure two owls (Coccyz coxus) proper.

Motto: Devisi Malesher, What Would We! Things change, but nothing is truly lost, The Cry: Tay What You Owe.

Registration: The State Herald of South Africa, registered under Government Notice No. 423 of 21st June 2013 (GN50071). Certificate No. 3521 issued on 29th August 2013.

The motto honours early colonial fall and shell emblems, amongst others it was a common charge. The shield represents the Solberg, a presumed geographical feature near Trondheim, Norway, from which an ancestor of the armiger's wife hailed. The VMA's also represent the warrior heritage of both families.

The two owls of the crest and badge symbolize Hagen and Maren, the wives of The Norse god Odin, the All-Father.

The armiger is, formerly of the 28th Military Police Company and of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Cavalry, 100th Military Detachment, United States Army. He is a Reserve Colonel of the Universal Life Church of Jackson Dutton (ordained February 7th June 2001), retired Reserve Colonel 22nd July 2002, and has had the honour of passing over a three mile long bridge over the pine woods.

The armiger's ancestry has been traced to mid 17th century Fife, Scotland, early 17th century Cheshire, France, and mid 18th century Hesse, Germany. Notable ancestors include Colonel Samuel Bell of 2nd Battalion, 30th Regiment of Maryland in the American War of Independence, Second Lieutenant Benjamin Henry, Sr. of the 55th New York Volunteer Infantry Regiment in the War of the Rebellion, Private James Alexander Coats and James Henry Coats of the 3rd Cavalry, 12th Division of Texas Cavalry, also in the War of the Rebellion, and numerous, Articles of the Peace and High Honours amongst the Hesses and Kothbous, barons of the early Maryland and Virginia colonies.

The armiger lives in Hillsboro, Oregon, United States of America, with his wife Brian Patricia Alberta Solberg-Bell, and son and commandeer her Daniel Edwin Tibben Solberg-Bell.

WHY REGISTER?

WHY REGISTER A COAT OF ARMS?

Whether your coat of arms has been granted by an heraldic authority, has been inherited or you have assumed it anew, registration can have the following benefits:

- Registration ensures that the arms will be published in The Armorial Register's Volumes which are printed and deposited in the British Library and other libraries internationally. All editions are available to purchase as an addition to your own family library.
- Deposit libraries include: The Bodleian Library Oxford University; The Cambridge University Library; National Library of Scotland; National Library of Wales; Trinity College Dublin and The British Library.
- Registration allows a person or organisation to record and display their coat of arms in a publicly accessible online database 'The International Register of Arms'.
- A complete record of the International Register online database will be archived by British Library UK Web Archive www.webarchive.org.uk approximately twice every year. This means that a complete record of the website and all changes to its content will be recorded. Thus building a permanent picture of the site's development and expanding content for years to come.
- Registration distinguishes inherited and original heraldic designs from bogus "surname coats of arms" and "family crests."
- Registration in our publicly searchable database can prevent others from unintentionally assuming the same coat of arms.
- Registration creates a documented date-certain for the use of the arms, which can settle disputes if someone later claim the same design. All registrants will receive a simple certificate in .pdf format and can also purchase an additional quality sealed certificate for framing.
- Registration allows the arms to be stored in standardised, written form, called a "blazon," which stabilises the design and allows it to be more easily preserved and transmitted and to be found in an electronic search.
- Registered entries can include the design rationale and history of the arms, preserving the information for the public and future generations.
- Registration of a personal coat of arms in honour of a parent or grandparent creates an enduring memorial and a symbol of family identity to all the honouree's offspring.
- Registration of non-personal arms helps promote the organisation's visibility on the internet.
- Register your Coat of Arms in Volume 2 of The Armorial Register - International Register of Arms.
- Entries are now being accepted for Volume 2 of the The Armorial Register - International Register of Arms (the Register) (formerly Burke's Peerage & Gentry International Register of Arms) online armorial which will also eventually be released as a book as per Volume 1. Price: £100.00 & £110.00 UK Pounds

Assumed Arms

If you live in a country where there is no regulation of heraldry and you are thinking of assuming arms then we urge you to seek proper advice before doing so. There are a number of individuals, associations and societies offering expert free advice and some, such as the American Heraldry Society, The International Heraldry Society and the International Association of Amateur Heralds (don't be put off by the word Amateur, their knowledge base is quite expert and very comprehensive), even offer free design assistance. Once you have decided on your basic design there are a number of excellent artists practicing both traditional and new and exciting digital techniques who would be pleased to produce a library painting/image of your newly acquired armorial bearings at a reasonable price. Don't be afraid to seek the assistance of others and don't make the mistake of believing that it is only those who earn a living out of heraldry who know how it should be done. Throughout the history of armory almost all of the most learned scholars with published works on the subject of heraldry have been proud to have been called amateurs.
